

MONOGRAPHS AND THEORETICAL STUDIES
IN SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY
IN HONOUR OF NELS ANDERSON

General Editor: K. Ishwaran

Publication 16

RICH PEOPLE AND RICE

Factional Politics in Rural Guyana

MARILYN SILVERMAN

York University

LEIDEN
E. J. BRILL
1980

RICH PEOPLE AND RICE

Factional Politics in Rural Guyana

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

H.-D. EVERS, University of Bielefeld, West Germany
P. C. W. GUTKIND, McGill University, Montreal, Canada
P. H. GULLIVER, York University, Toronto, Canada

CONTENTS

Preface	XI
Maps, Tables, Diagrams and Appendices	VIII
I. The Nature of Factional Politics	1
Introduction	1
The Village History	1
The Era of Familial Elitism: 1927-1942	2
The Period of Displacement: 1942-1947	2
The Period of Factional Peace: 1948-1952	3
The Era of Class Elitism: 1953-1967	3
The Period of Incorporation: 1967-1970	4
The Nature of Factionalism	4
Factionalism as Strategy and Process	7
The Nature of the Factional Environment	9
The Nature of "Factional Sets"	11
The Framework for Analysis	14
II. Rajgahr Village: "Rice, Rich People and Tractors"	15
The Co-operative Republic of Guyana	15
Rajgahr Village	23
Physical Features	25
The Village Economy	27
Vertical Complexity	27
Horizontal Diversity: Differential Income Distribution	35
Population Characteristics	36
Kinship and Marriage	36
Religion	37
Local Political Organization	38
III. The Initial Years, 1902-1926	41
The Formative Years	41
Consolidation of Familial Elitism	45

ISBN 90 04 06029 4

Copyright 1980 by E. J. Brill, Leiden, The Netherlands
All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced or translated in any form, by print, photoprint, microfilm, microfiche or any other means without written permission from the publisher

PRINTED IN HUNGARY

IV. The Era of Familial Elitism, 1927-1942	52
Introduction	52
Goals of Competition	52
Arenas of Competition	54
Arenas of Co-operation and Alliance	64
Resource Management and Social Networks	65
Core Support and Followers	80
The Patterning of Factional Processes	82
V. The Period of Displacement, 1943-1947	85
Alterations in the Resource Structure	85
The Phases of Factional Displacement	90
Resource Management and Social Networks	94
Escalation, the Fight and Control Mechanisms	97
VI. The Politics of Peace, 1948-1952	100
Economic Expansion and Political Extension	100
Arenas of Conciliation	106
VII. The Politics of Class Elitism, 1953-1966	115
Alterations in the Resource Structure	115
The Village Council	119
New Arenas of Competition	135
Resource Management and Social Networks	142
Core Support and Followers	151
The Patterning of Factional Processes	153
VIII. The Politics of Incorporation, 1967-1970	158
The National Arena	158
Arenas of Competition: The Council	161
Other Arenas of Competition	164
Resource Management and Social Networks	168
Core Support and Followers	176
The Patterning of Factional Processes	177
IX. Conclusions: Variations in Factional Politics	179
Introduction	179
The Patterning of Factional Processes	179

Stratification, Political Eligibility and Goals	179
Variations in Factional Games	184
Variations in Factional Sets	188
The Rajgahr Political Process	194
Postscript	200
Appendices	203
I. Tables on the Physical Features of Rajgahr Village	203
II. Tables on the Characteristics of the Village Economy	204
III. Tables on Population Characteristics of Rajgahr Village	206
IV. Tables on Kinship and Marital Characteristics of Rajgahr Village	209
V. Rajgahr Village District: Approved Estimate and Rate, 1970	211
VI. Social Characteristics of the Original Rajgahr Settlers	215
VII. The Maraj Family Genealogy: Relevant Personnel	218
VIII. Characteristics of the Co-operative Banks in West Berbice	219
IX. Surplus Disposal and Annual Income	220
Bibliography	221
Index	232

MAPS, TABLES, DIAGRAMS, APPENDICES

List of Maps

2.1: Location Map: The Republic of Guyana	16
2.2: District Divisions of Guyana	17
2.3: Rajgahr Layout and Adjacent Villages	24
2.4: Layout of Rajgahr Village	26
2.5: Irrigation and Drainage: Rajgahr Village	32

List of Tables and Diagrams

Table 2.1: Ethnic Composition of Guyana, 1964	19
2.2: Dutch Sugar Estate on the Guyana Coast	21
2.3: Layout and Water Control of Guyanese Villages	22
2.4: The Distribution of Ricelands	28
2.5: Income Distribution Within the Village	35
2.6: Hierarchy of Local Government Offices	40
4.1: Factional Deployment on Council, 1930-1935	55
4.2: Distribution of Council Support and Electoral "Slates"	57
4.3: Stratification, Competitive Eligibility and Factional Category ...	66
4.4: Mobilization Strategies	68
4.5: Mobilization Strategies According to Rank Order and Cumulative Distribution	70
4.6: Network of Ramprashad's Support	71
4.7: Network of Panchar's Support	71
4.8: Distribution of Multiple Links	72
4.9: Subversion Strategies	72
4.10: Intensity of Leader-Follower Ties	73
4.11: Networks and Zones of Nominators and Seconders, 1937 Election	74
4.12: Networks and Zones of Nominators and Seconders, 1939 Election	74
4.13: Nominators, Candidates and Stratification	76
4.14: Morphological Measures and Summation of Council Teams	77
4.15: Factional Sets, Action-Sets and Teams: A Comparison	78
4.16: Observations on the Interactional Measures of the Council Teams	79
5.1: Stratification, Competitive Eligibility and Factional Category ...	94
5.2: Mobilization Strategies	96
7.1: Applications to Build Shops, 1941-1960	116
7.2: Village Stratification: pre-1953 and post-1953	117
7.3: Factional Deployment on Council, 1959 and 1960	125
7.4: Locations of Aryan and Muslim Allotments	135
7.5: Stratification, Competitive Eligibility and Factional Category ...	142
7.6: Mobilization Strategies	144

7.7: Mobilization Strategies According to Rank Order and Cumulative Distribution	146
7.8: Network of Prensingh's Support	147
7.9: Network of Maraj's Support	147
7.10: Subversion Strategies	148
7.11: Intensity of Leader-Follower Ties	149
7.12: Factional Sets and Teams: A Comparison	150
7.13: Sultan's Cluster Within Maraj's Core	152
8.1: Stratification, Competitive Eligibility and Factional Category ...	169
8.2: Mobilization Strategies	171
8.3: Mobilization Strategies: Percentages	172
8.4: Subversion Strategies	173
8.5: Religious Affiliation and Leadership Alignment	174
8.6: Income Distribution and Leadership Alignment	175
8.7: Village Income Distribution and Councillors' Incomes and Occu- pations	175
8.8: Net Worth of Leaders' Support	176
9.1: Stratification, Competitive Eligibility and Factional Category: A Summation	180
9.2: Mobilization Strategies: A Summation	182
9.3: Variations in Factional Processes: A Summation	186
9.4: Resource Availability and Factional Processes	187
9.5: Variations in Measures of Factional Sets	188
9.6: Factional Types, Periods and Game Patterns	192
9.7: Rajgahr Processes Over Time	197
9.8: Flow Chart of Factional Processes	199
9.9: Resource Availability, Cleavages and Game Patterns	200

List of Tables in Appendices

Appendix I: Tables on the Physical Features of Rajgahr Village	203
Table I.1: House and Cultivation Lots in each Village Section	203
I.2: Density of Houses in Each Village Section	203
Appendix II: Tables on the Characteristics of the Village Economy	204
Table II.1: Occupational Distribution of the Rajgahr Population	204
II.2: Distribution of Rice Acreage	204
II.3: Distribution of Cattle Among Rajgahr Rearers	204
II.4: Distribution of Shop Types	205
II.5: Types of Crafts	205

II.6: Types and Lengths of Wage Labour Employment	205
II.7: Job Types of Wage Labourers	205
II.8: Employers of Wage Labour	205
II.9: Length of Employment of Teachers	205
Appendix III: Tables on Population Characteristics	206
Table III.1: Population of Rajgahr Village by Age and Sex	206
III.2: Distribution of Educational Levels	206
III.3: Educational Distribution by Age	206
III.4: Distribution of Standard 5 and 6 Education According to Age ...	207
III.5: Education According to Age and Sex	208
Appendix IV: Tables on Kinship and Marital Characteristics	209
Table IV.1: Distribution of Household Types	209
IV.2: Household Types According to Annual Income	209
IV.3: Type of Marriage According to Year of Marriage	210
Appendix V: Rajgahr Village District: Approved Estimate and Rate, 1970 ...	211
Appendix VI: Social Characteristics of the Original Rajgahr Settlers	215
Appendix VII: The Maraj Family Genealogy: Relevant Personnel	218
Appendix VIII: Characteristics of the Co-operative Banks in West Berbice ...	219
Table VIII.1: Share Capital in West Berbice Branches until 1926	219
VIII.2: Number of Shareholders in the Banks by Year	219
VIII.3: Capital Loaned by the Banks, 1921-1930	219
Appendix IX: Surplus Disposal and Annual Income	220

PREFACE

FIELD RESEARCH was conducted between February 1969 and April 1970 for my doctoral dissertation. During the lengthy period of graduate work at McGill University, there were many people whose help and generosity I would like to acknowledge. Richard F. Salisbury provided immeasurable guidance and support; I am deeply indebted to him for his concern. Peter Gutkind, Dan Aronson and Frances Henry, all of the Anthropology Department, and Theo Hills, Department of Geography, provided innumerable ideas and comments.

In Guyana are the persons without whom research could not have been done. Dr. L. P. Cummings, University of Guyana, gave the practical aid required for officialdom, field research, and the preparation of maps. The programme for foreign researchers, University of Guyana, provided the umbrella for my work while Dr. Fenton Rampsahoye, Dr. Cheddi Jagan, Dr. Lesley Potter, Dr. Michael Wagner, Kenneth Potter and Gordon Forte provided additional aid as needed.

In Rajgahr Village are three thousand people whose kindness and hospitality made this study possible. I must thank especially the personages and families of Esree Persaud; Reverend J. P. Shivrattan, M. B. E. ; Ahmed Ali; Surujnauth Sewsankar; Cheddi Sewsankar; Cyril Rachpaul; Sheik Mohamed Fazil; Cyril Kadar; Seegobin Seecharran; Pamela Rachpaul; Winston Rachpaul; Ramkissoon; Lalita Deokie; T. P. Jaundoo; and Sugrim Rachpaul. Deserving of special mention is the family which absorbed me into their daily lives and provided me with a social identity and guidance: Abdul Rohoman, his wife, 'didi' Zulekha, brothers Mobin, Worrel, Ferose and Vidor, sisters Jeanette, Rubena, Camille and Roxanne, 'bowgies' Zubeda and Shareen, and Shamroon and Nelson Dass. Their generosity and practical assistance will never be forgotten.

Numerous people at Fort Wellington also gave invaluable help: R. G. Prashad, former District Commissioner; Richard Ramballi, former Co-operative Officer and his wife Daisy; and Father Raymond Ball of the Anglican Church.

My many colleagues at York University provided encouragement and stimulation for this work. Particularly, the comments and help given by Phillip Gulliver, Malcolm Blineow and Peter Harries-Jones, were extremely valuable.

Finally, to my parents and brother, who gave encouragement and support, and still do, my deepest thanks.

The financial support for this research was provided by the Research Institute for the Study of Man, New York; the Centre for Developing-Area Studies, McGill University; and a Doctoral Fellowship from the Canada Council.

Marilyn Silverman
York University, Toronto
November, 1977